We copy and commend to the attention of our Douglas and other Democratic friends and readers, a graphic letter from New York, under date of October 29th, by Mr. Goodander date of October 29th, by Mr. Goodander date of October 29th, by Mr. Goodander, the leading Douglas paper in Minnesots. Mr. Goodander has looked carefully over the "Fusion" ground and comes to the conclusion that it has wholly demonalized the Democratic party and destroyed alized the Democratic party and destroyed sall hope of electing Democratic Party and destroyed into the Brechiaridge ranks, and that step all tope of electing Douglas. Under these of cumstances he is very decidedly of opinion that the best thing for the genuine Douglas. For one, inasmuch as it must be so, I am not that the best thing for the genuine Douglas for Lincoln. There is no doubt that many of them will do so and thus help to resume Fusion, Discussing and There is no best that many of them will do so and thus help to resume Fusion, Discussing and There is no doubt that many of them will do so and thus help to resume the strength of the Union, and Fusion, Discussing and There is no doubt that many of them will do so and thus help to resume the strength of the Union, and I'm a little curious, too, to have the quality of Southern ohivelrio blood fairly tried, and to see if it is really a dangerous explosive fluid. I've a notion, just at the present, that it's rather watery and thin.—

To have this question of Union or Dismion decided—to so shape the convexs that the Southern ultras will be brought directly up to the rack, and be made to face their own master. These Southern ultras have out old soare crow.

The Republicans say that the Union can, will and must be preserved. All the rest say it will be destroyed.

Under these circumstances, how can any man, who is a true friend of the Union and desirous of its perpetuity, vote with any but the Republican party?

Ithis canvase for the friends of Dauglas to consider. These Southern men is to rebuke them by their votes. If this rebuke can be best administered through Douglas, let his friends at and by him; if it can be done only through Limooin, why lot it be done, any how. The end will justify the means.

THE NEW AMERICAN WATCH! Made at Waltham, Mass.

IN ORDER TO MEET THE REQUIRE-MEN'S, of gentlemen who prefer a thinner watch than those usually made by us, we have a try lessed a new style of Watch on the three-quaresty have model, especially designed for this purposse.

In establishing this new reries, it has also been our design to produce a Watch in every way autorior to the best and highest priced products of the most reputable of English and Swass manufacturers; and no labor or expense has been spared to this in all respects of fine and durable material, or external and internal linish, of accurate compours tion and adjustment, of mathematically just pro-portions, and of practical results, our new three-quagreer plate Watch challenges comparison with any in the world.

The following named gentlemen may be referred to in relation to these Watches:
Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, Me., John G. Sare, Vermont. N. P. Willis, New York, Hon.N. P. Benks, Mess Rornes Greeley, Frank Lestie. Rorner Greeley, Trank Legile, Orne W. Field, Rew York, Wm. H. Cary, M. York, Paul Morphy, New Orleans, Norman Ward, Wis. Dr. J. Marlon Sins, Prof. Bartlett, West Pt. Lieut. H. A. Wilse, U.S. N. Col. W. J. Hardee, U.S. A. S. I. Frims, D. D., Wh't Pl's, Wilson G. Hunt, N. York, Gan, G. P. Morris, N. York, Peter Cooper, N. York. CAUTION .-- As our Watch is now extensive! sounterfeited by foreign manufacturers, we have to inform the public that no watch is of our produc-tion which is unaccompanied by a certificate of gen-uncesses, bearing the number of the watch, and signed by our Treasurer, R. E. Robbins, or by on essors, Appleton, Tracy & Co.

As these watches are for sale by jewelers generally throughout the Union, the American Watch Con-pany do not solicit orders for single watches. HOBEINS & APPLETON, Wholesale Agents, No. 132 Broadway, N. Y. nov3x7934 w2m-codxwoow

Well, the Elsworthys were of good family, and very proud of it, though the service nearly as quick as which had belonged to them time out of mind. I am not sure whether it was their grandfatter's dice, and cockfighting, or their father's going surety for a friend who did something wrong in a government office, that brought them to this poor pass, but there was no house in all York where shieter used up. There were a mother, two shieters, and a cousin who lived with them. The mother was a stately old lady, never seen ont of a black brocade. The sixters are not over young or handsome, but they are not over young or handsome, hut they diessed as fine as they could. The cousin was counted one of the prettiest women in Yorkshire, but she walked with a crutch, having met with an accident in her shildhood. A promising young man, in a manner the only dependence of his family, newly promoted to a station of true; and inflaence, and on the eve of marriage, everybody lamented his untimely death, and sympathized with his bereaved relations and his Intended bride. I think my uncle lamented most of all. None of his customers, to my knowl-

all. Aone of his customers, to my knowledge, ever got so much of his sorrow.—
When he was sent for in the way of business, it struck me that he staid particularly long. The good man could talk of nothing but the grief of the afflicted family—how the mother went into fits, and the sisters tore their hair—how the cousin talked of tore their hair—how the consin talked of wearing mourning all her days—and how it was feared that Miss Westbay, who insisted on saeing him, would never recover her senses. The county papers gave expression to the public grief. There were a great many verses written about it. Nobody passed the Loues of mourning without a sigh or a suitable remark. My unche superintended the making of the coffin, as I had never seep him do to any other; and when the workmen were going home he tified their respect to the dead by accompany-ing it all the way. The members of the family in two mourning coaches, and the undertaker's men, were alone allowed to fol low poor Elaworthy to his last resting pl ce and the coffin was not to be brought till the latest hour. My uncle had got it inished to his mind, but evidently did not wish me to look at his work. 'Never fear, uncle; I'll take care of it as well as if you wars there yourself."

'I'knew you would, Tom—I knew you would, I could trust you with the hearsing of an earl's coffin; and for managing mutes I don't know your equal. But there's something more to be done. Come over beside me, Tom; that old woman don't hear well at the best, and she's sheeping now, and no mistake. Will you promise me'—and his voice sunk to a whisper—"that, whatever you hear or see, you'll make no remark to any one living, and be cautious as you can about the body? There's no foul play," said he, for I began to look frightened; "but maybe this leg's a judgment for taking on such business. Howsomeyer, I'm to have three hundred pounds for it; and you'll conduct it properly, and give me your solemn promise. I know you'll never break that."

Don't look so stupid, man; can't you understand, Mr. Elsworthy didn't die at all, and never had brain fever; but he wants to get off from marrying Miss Weatbay, or something of that sort. They're liking a querway about it, I must say; but these gentel people have ways of their own. It was the cousin that prepared my mind for it in the back parlor; that woman's up to empthing. I stood out against having a hand in it, till I heard that the sexton of Beverly Church was a poor relation of theirs. The key of the coffin is to be given to him; it will be locked, not screwed down, yeu see, and when all is over at the rault—it will be dark night by that time, for we don't more till three, and these December days are short—be'll come and help Mr. Eisworthy out, -be'll come and these December days are snort

To crush the tyrant's cruel power!

Lo! now's the day and now's the hour,
To crush the tyrant's cruel power!
The good of armites stand by thee!
His power can set the country free.
The eyes of nations on three gaze;
Their welcome plaudits to ther raise;
Unumbered bleasings rest on thee,
Thou friend of God, and liberty.

THE FALSE FUNERAL.

I never liked my uncle's business, though he took me when my father died, and brought me up as his own son. The good man had no children. His wife was long dead; he had an honest old woman for a housekeeper, and a flourishing business, in the undertaking line, to leave to somebody; but he did not leave it to me, and I'll tell you the reason.

Whon I had been about five years with him, and had grown worth my sell, as he used to say, a death occurred in our neigh.

orutch, having met with an accident in her ohildhood. Master Charles was the only son, and the youngest of the family; he was a tall, handsome, dashing young man, uncommonly polite, and a great favorite with the ladies. It was said there were some red eyes in the town when the story got wind that he was going to be married to the Hontor orable Miss Westbay. Her father was younger brother to the Earl of Harrowgate, and had seven girls beside her, without depends of the form or orable Miss Westbay. Her father was younger brother to the Earl of Harrowgate, and had seven girls beside her, without the penny for one of them; but Miss Westbay was a beauty, and the wonder was that she had not got married long ago, being nearly seven years out, dancing, singing, and playing tip top pieces at all the parties. Half a dozen matches had been talked of for her, but somehow they broke down one after another. Her father was rather impatient to see her off; so were her sisters, por things, and no wonder, for, grow up

These receipts place beyond doubt the ability of the Company, if it had not certain debte which must be paid in cast, to pay interest upon its bonds. The cost of running the steamships forming the cosnection between this city and Grand Haven, is about $180 a day each, or $260 a day for both, against a cost of $100 a day paid for the insufficient boats preriously chartered.

The cost of working the boats first chartered and of those now owned by the Company, and the comparative amount of through traffic which each brought upon the railway, will be best seen by the following parison. In the following statement, the boate are credited

In regard to the new organization Mr. Daybers says:

The court, on the 6th August, 1560, ordered a decree for the sale of the road, and on the 4th October last it was brithe officers of the court said by public auction, and bought in by traitees, acting for a proposed new company. This company is now provisionally formed, subject to the future concurrence of the holders of securities subsequent to those of the first and second bands. If this concurrence is produced, these provisional arrangements will be carried out by the actual completion of the new company; if such concurrence is not given, the direction of the pour; will be required as to the steps necessary to be taken to permit of the floating debt oreditors asserting any rights that they may have, and which for the present they have agreed to waire for the purpose of taking all parties from the great expense and delay of a harrassing legal contest. all justice from the great expense and fichay of a har-rassing legal context.

In the mean time, the first and second bondbolders of course relain their original position.

The Great Western Railway Company, which holds the bonds of the third and fourth morigages now under forectoure, although they have not received any interest upon their loans, have been received any interest upon their loans, have been receiving a very large and continuous accession to their traffic from this railway, to an amount which has yielded a very handsome percentage upon their loans, and this bone itself becomes developed.

INON STELM PASSENGER CAR. The Massillon Journal of the Times contains ecount of the construction and working of a newly layented fron steam passenger car, built at that place,

This paper says:

We had the pleasure of witnessing as wall as experiencing the practical working of the car in a trip upon it to Aliance yesterday. There was about a dozen railroad near and machinists on board, and it was the universally expressed opinion of all that the enterprise was a gree: success, and would seemtally effect an entire revolution in the mode of trusporting pascences upon railroads. The fears entertained by some that the ear, from its comparative lightness, would rock to und iro, and ride uneasily when put in rapid notion, and that from its great length would be mobile to pass round the short curves, were entirely dispelled, as had been predicted by those who fully understood the principles upon which the truss and track work was constructed. It is thought that the ear will work more satisfactorily at regard to these particular shan the common sat the rate of 30 miles per hour, atthing no particular effort was made, for regions overous to engineers and machilish, to get out the full speed of the ear.

The are is constructed upon two palents, which we will mention hereafter. Its extreme length is 75 feet—15 feet of which, in front, are ecoupled by the boller, water tank and baggage room. This great len th is obtained by means of a when (Daviaport & Russelt's) truss brace, upon which the bottom of the ear resus.—The engine is built upon the forward tracks, under the boiler, with which it is connected by a facilities play having a built and sorket. Meestry Moore & Parrot have a parent upon this part of the ear. We might add here that the engine for this car was made of your made of a when (Daviaport & Russelt's) truss brace, upon which the bottom of the car resus.—The engine is built upon the forward tracks, under the boiler, with which it is connected by a facilities play having a bait and sorket. Meestry Moore & Parrot have a parent upon this part of the car. We might add here that the engine for this car was made of iron, are about three inches tilineer from, and very nicely upholasters.

Th We had the pleasure of witnessing as wall as expe-

The advantages of this over the clumbon cars now in use for carrying passengers, are many and obvious. In the first place, the cost of a car of this description is about 86,600. The cost of a train of cars of equal capacity, is, for bosomotive $10,000; two passenger cars $6,000; haggage cars $1,000; total $10,000. The chee, is a saving of about $1,000 in the first cost, had, it will not take more than one-lourth the amount of free ind oil to run this car, and will only require two or three persons at the furthest to manage it, when five is the least number that could be employed on the other. The weight of this car is about 17 tons, whilst that of a train the size we have named, is $5 tons—and hence the wear and tear of the road in running, would be proportionably less. It is also is Shicak—and hence the wear and tear of the folior running, would be proportionably less. It is also safest, because being so machlighter, it can be stopped quicker, and tren in case of collision, the concussion would not be so great, and the flexibility of the frowould came at its give and thus partially break the vicience of the shock. These considerations, with other we might mention, are such as will eventually cause this car to impersade for the most part those not in use.
